How many of these can you find at Skara Brae?

When people first lived at Skara Brae, the houses were a lot further from the sea. Gradually the coast has eroded and the sea has crept nearer the village. Special measures have to be taken to stop the sea coming over the remains of the houses and drowning them.

The houses at Skara Brae had roofs and the passages between the houses were covered. The replica house helps people imagine what it would have been like to live in the village.
