PRE-APPLICATION ADVICE

Historic Environment Scotland encourages all applicants to seek pre-application advice prior to completing their application for scheduled monument consent. This will help to identify any further information that may be required in support of the application, and identify any significant issues with the works proposed. The level of supporting documents required to determine a scheduled monument consent application will vary, depending on the scale and nature of the works proposed. Generally, the greater the complexity of the works, the greater the level of information and justification required.

APPLICATIONS FOR SCHEDULED MONUMENT CONSENT

Applications are to be made on a form obtained from Historic Environment Scotland. Applications can be submitted electronically or by post.

All applications for scheduled monument consent must contain the following information:
- a written description of the works to which it relates;
- the name or location of the scheduled monument to which the works relate or a description of the location of the land;
- the name and address of the applicant and, where an agent is acting on behalf of the applicant, the name and address of that agent;
- a plan or drawing, sufficient to identify the area of land to which the works relate;
- such other plans and drawings as are necessary to describe the works to which it related; and
- appropriate ownership certificates and notices (see below - PART B: Other Parties Notification and Part C - Certificate of ownership)

Applications which contain insufficient information to satisfy the information requirements will be returned to the applicant with a clear explanation of why the application has been returned and what further information is required. We strongly encourage the use of our pre-application advice and application checking service to ensure you include the correct information at the time of submission in order that the processing of your application is not delayed.

PUBLICATION OF APPLICATIONS FOR SCHEDULED MONUMENT CONSENT

Scheduled monument consent applications will be made publicly available on Historic Environment Scotland’s on-line portal (http://portal.historicenvironment.scot) during the application process (normally within five working days of receiving an application that satisfies the information requirements). Before applying for scheduled monument consent, you must consider what (if any) protected species might be present on the site, or close by, and the effect the proposed works might have on them.

If European Protected Species are present and likely to be affected, you should seek specialist advice as you may require an ecological survey or licence to support your scheduled monument consent application. The determination of your application maybe delayed or the application refused if there is insufficient evidence to assess the impact of the works on European Protected Species.

You should, where necessary, provide information on the likely impact of your proposed works on the protected place, as the determination of your application for scheduled monument consent may be delayed or the application refused without this information. Further information on European Protected Species, sites of special scientific interest, special protection areas and special areas of conservation, including details of the location of sites of special scientific interest, special protection areas and special areas of conservation, and sightings of European Protected Species is available from Scottish Natural Heritage’s website: www.snh.gov.uk.
