

Make Dorothea in her Tower

Did you know there is a story about a girl called Dorothea who jumped between the two towers at Huntingtower Castle?

Make your own version of Dorothea in her tower!

You'll need:

- A cardboard tube
- A piece of thin card 12cm x 5cm
- Pencils, scissors, sticky tape, glue
- Wool or string

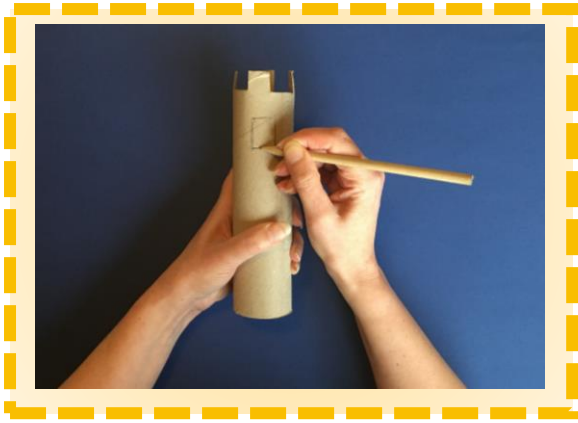

What to do:

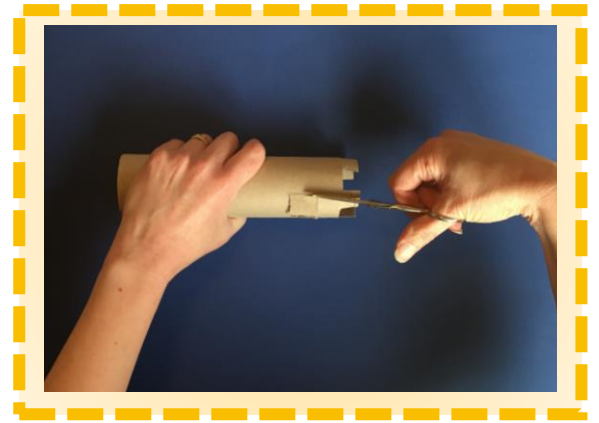

Draw battlements around the top of the cardboard tube

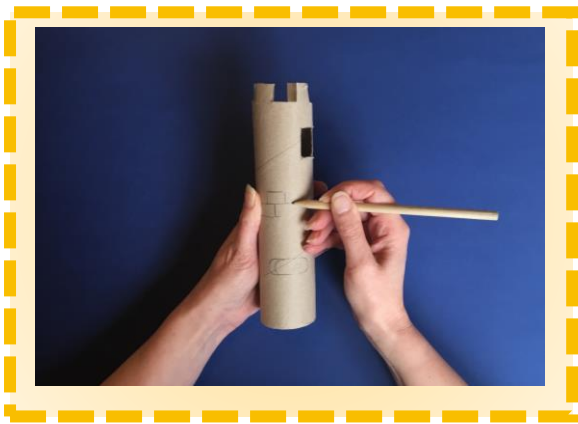

Cut them out so you have crenels (gaps) and merlons (bits that stick up)

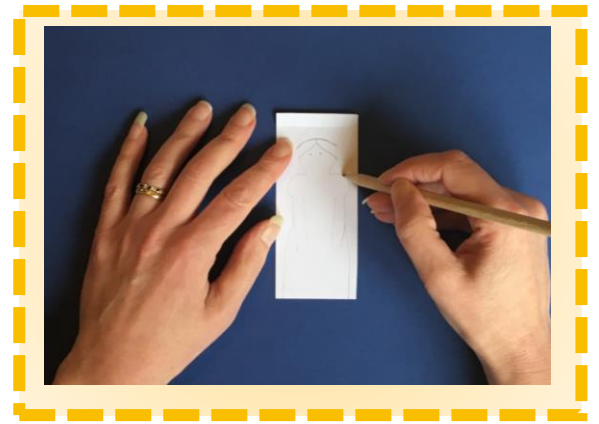

Draw a window high up on the tube.

Cut your window out – you might need an adult to help.

Draw features like stonework or gun loops. Colour in any bits you want.

Draw Dorothea onto the thin card. A 1p coin is a good size for her head.

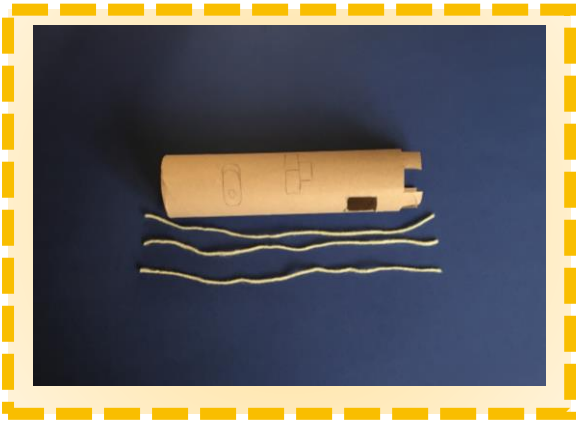

Cut your Dorothea out and colour her in.

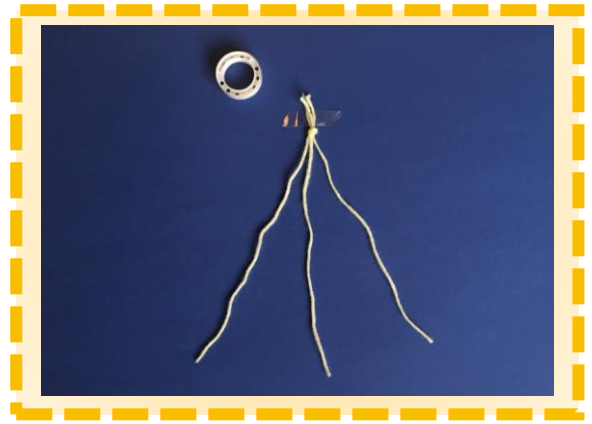

Cut and glue some short strands of wool or string to make hair.

We'd love to see your versions of Dorothea – share them with us at #LearningWithHES

Cut 3 strands of wool about the same length as your tube.

Knot the 3 strands together and use sticky tape to secure them to a table.

Make a plait by crossing the left strand across the middle strand then the right strand across the new middle strand.

Repeat this all the way down then tie a knot about 2cm from the bottom.

Attach the plait of hair to the back of Dorothea's head using tape.

Using tape or glue, stick Dorothea inside the tower so she sticks out the top of the battlements.
